

Authentication industry body widens network

The Authentication Solution Providers' Association, which aims to become the voice of authentication solution providers in Asia and around the world, has invited all firms related to the security and authentication business to join its platform. The association, which claims to work closely with global authorities such as International Hologram Manufacturers Association, Counterfeit Intelligence Bureau (CIB) and Interpol, as part of its 16th anniversary celebration on Thursday, admitted four new members, namely, Manipal Technologies, Kevin Metpack, Monotech Systems and Creed Engineers. Manoj Kochar, president, ASPA, said, "Adherence to the highest level of quality and ethical standards enshrined in the ASPA code of conduct has helped ASPA earn the trust of the industry and emerge as a strong voice in the hologram industry."
